

Sheep Self-Sufficiency Program

Intervention Zone

The entire national territory

Description of the Project

Senegal remains dependent on neighboring countries to meet its national sheep needs. The program will implement general actions across the entire small ruminant sector and across the entire national territory, as well as targeted interventions on the sheep species in certain geographical areas. The program has five (5) components:

- support for the development of pastoral farming: improvement of farming conditions as well as vaccination and deworming of small ruminants.
- support for the establishment or extension of 100 sheep breeding farms with at least 500 ewes initially.
- the intensification of production with the promotion of improved sheepfolds (family sheepfolds and 2000 modern sheepfolds managed by young people)
- the establishment of 2,500 sheep fattening workshops
- support for urban breeding for the revival of self-production of Tabaski sheep and the production of improved breeders

Expected

- Increasing the productivity of small ruminants
